Newsletter #03/2023

The tdAcademy has had some intense weeks and exciting news to tell: the founding of the Society for Transdisciplinary and Participatory Research was celebrated, the tdAcademy Group of Supporting Partners published a relevant position paper for the German context, and you can expect some new material in the Capacity Building section on our website. Now, summer is coming and it is time to get out – not just to enjoy the sun, but to come together, exchange ideas, network and meet the transdisciplinary research community. Are you a student or an early career researcher? Then you can expect two exciting summer schools. And there is much more to discover for the transdisciplinary community. We hope to see you at one of the next events from the tdAcademy team, fellows and cooperation partners!
