Newsletter #05/2022

With this newsletter, the tdAcademy concludes an exciting and insightful year in the transdisciplinary research community. At the same time, the year is not over yet: In two upcoming webinars our fellows are looking forward to discuss with you, in the new capacity building section you can request different workshops and in the online community you can use the autumn days to further fill your profiles and enter your own TD projects. We are looking forward to the last two months of the year with you, the tdCommunity - but since this newsletter is only published every two months, we also wish you an - admittedly very early - happy new year 2023!
